NEW LEADERSHIP

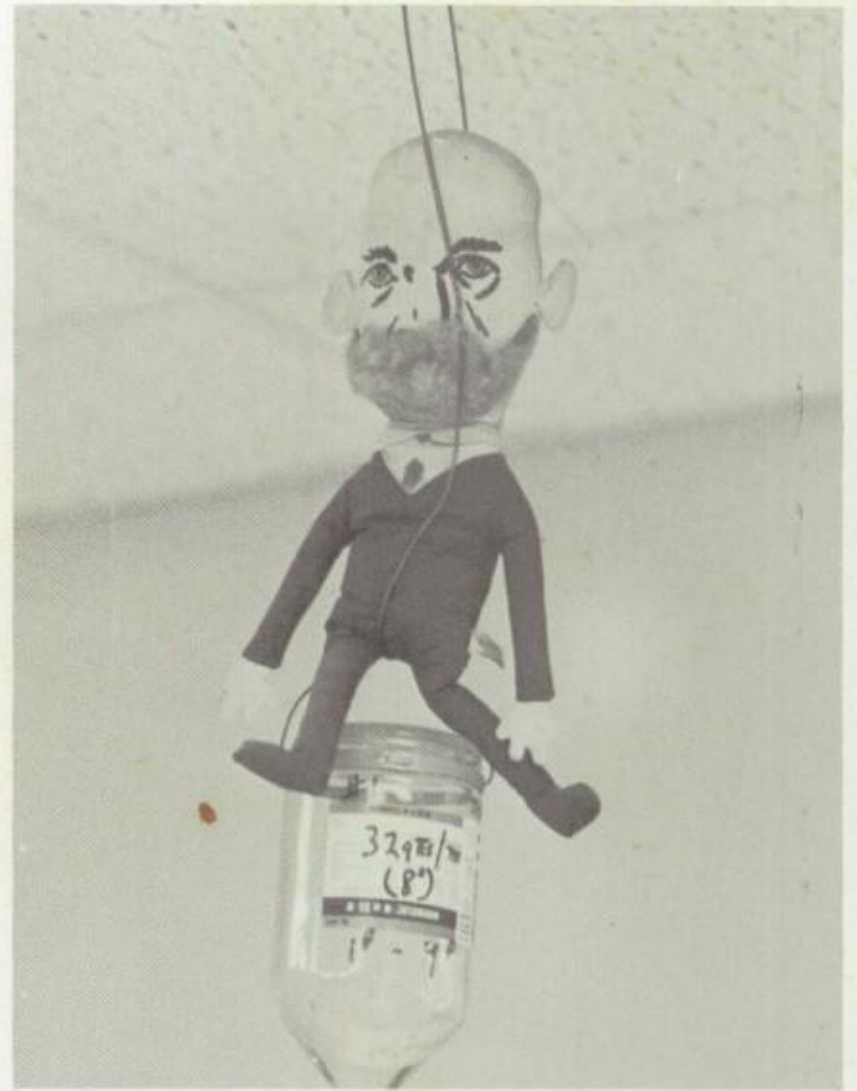

1977 at Admiral Farragut was a year of new leadership. Captain Richard G. Wheeler, in his first year as Headmaster, led us forward to change. He remained, however, ever aware of Farragut's proud tradition. The cadets, faculty, and staff join together to thank him — and lend our support for his future years of success.

MESSAGE FROM THE HEADMASTER

I wish to congratulate each of you in the class of 1977 for your academic accomplishments this year, and to add my thanks for your co-operation in making my first year as Headmaster a rewarding one.

We have seen some changes this year, for which your leadership has been responsible. I trust that each of you will demonstrate that same Leadership in the future to assist you in leading useful and fulfilling lives.

The Jolliest Port for Midshipman or Admiral

According to scuttlebut, the shade of doughty Admiral Farragut haunts our fine seafood restaurant. Could be pure myth... and yet, both the top brass and Sunday sailors find the Lobster House a happy ship. For good reasons. The sea treats we serve are fresh off the dock—caught by our own trawler, the "Heidy M." And freshness makes a whale of a difference in flavor! Our galley cooks these Gulf treasures with the expertise that makes them a delicious experience. Equally enjoyable are our stone crab, Florida lobster, oysters from Apalachicola—all the bounty of Florida waters. You can pick your own Maine lobster live from our tanks... and dine on other delicacies from the Seven Seas. The decor evokes the romantic past of windjammer days... and you can lunch by a window and watch the boats sail along the Intracoastal Waterway. Evenings are lively with music. And our friendly crew makes even a midshipman feel like an admiral! We think Admiral Farragut would find the Lobster House a jolly port to haunt... and our famous grog the real thing! Make this discovery yourself.

The one and only Gene's—on the Gulf side of Madeira Beach Bridge.

Welcome aboard... Noon 'til very late EVERY day
